been acted upon, much of the heart-burning raised by this measure of much-needed sanitation, and the difficulties experienced with these By-laws, would have been obviated. For the author of all this objectionable legislation, how-

The jury, after hearing this, returned the following verdict: 'Our werdict is, unanimously, accidental death; and we think the police had no right to trespass into another house without the Company, Limited, which will be found in virtue of a warrant.' It will be obvious to every one that the second verdict is quite different from the first. The jury said death was accidental. Mr Wodehouse makes death the result of the action of the Police. Had the Magistrate had a glimmering idea of law he would at once have seen the difference; but, being totally ignorant of the law, he forced an altogether unjust finding into the mouths of the jury. The jurymen were Portuguese, with little or no experionce in such matters, and made no complaint; but it is not right in the interests of public justice that such a thing should be allowed to pass. The whole evidence in case was against this contorted verdict of the Magistrate. The gamblers ran because their own guilty consciences told them they had been doing wrong; and it was clearly stated that when the Sergeant saw there was a danger of some one being injured he tried to assist the men to escape rather than attempted to arrest give this case some attention, and will soul was not in harmony with stop the stupid prosecution that has been i too much handicapped in dealing with the nuisance, and that it must come to the for attempting to do his duty, the result transformed itself to interfere in any way with gambling. will do anything to gratify the We hope, threfore, his Excellency will not further stultify the action of the Police.

LAND AND FRANCE. - A correspondent sends startling comparison between the costs and difficulties of County Court proceedings in England and the working of the corresponding tribunals in Paris. He asserts that two summonses which he recently issued to recover two small debts in that city cost him only 15 centimes each. They were both served, and the claims discharged within a week. He took out a summons to recover a debt of £7 in a London County had it returned with the answer that defendant could not be found. Evidently small-debt collecting is another of the things

A NEW JERUSALEM. The opening of the 'silly' season in London coincides wi the arrival of an American faddist, who known in the United States as the originator of a movement for the redemption Palestine. This gentleman, who has adopted the nom de plume of Dr Sivartha, has, according to an American interviewer, worked out careful plans for the rebuilding of Jerusalem, with its temples, public buildings, gates and walls, in harmony with the prophetic description of the Bible. It would seem that Dr Sivartha has no idea of establishing a Jewish State, for although Jews at present form the greater portion of the population of the Holy City, under the new scheme the Jews proper will only form ones xtli of the population, the rest being English and American. As soon as a sufficient number of people are established in Jerusalem, Dr Sivartha, whom the Jewish Messenger of New York styles a 'crank,' expects that the Powers of Europe will unite in tional. Dr Sivartha intends to settle in Jerusalem, and to begin the work which he considers it his mission to fulfil. he will be doomed to disappointment there tion of Palestine is not to be brought about by such plans as have been evolved from the brains of this enthusiast from the other side of the Atlantic. Dr. Sivatha will, however, not altogether cast his lot among stangers, for it is within our knowledge that for some years past a small Americancolony, consisting exclusively of Christians, has been established in the immediate vicinity of Jerusalem. The members this little colony have voluntarily expatristed thomselves and taken up their abode in Jerusalem, in the hope of being able to present at the restoration of Palestine that the suppression of opium is more urgent than any of these. Opium is the root of poverty and the source of weakness. Europeans, in introducing opium into China, not merely aimed at making equal persistence urge its introduction into Ohina. Is there any principle of international law to justify this? And not only do they press its introduction into China. but they take measures for the collection of revenue, the suppression of smuggling und the sale of the drug. What is the reason of these measures ? These Europeans had a profound knowledge of China's situation, with such a sea-board requiring an enormous expenditure for its protection. so that when her own resources were exhausted on this necessary work she would be compelled to borrow on the security of the opium revenue. Therefore, since China sought neither the development of the trade, nor the suppression of smuggling. nor the accumulation of the revenue, the Europeans must needs undertake all these motives has not increased with their weight | things on behalf of China. Now, when the mind is depressed and the circulation hindered the system is not nourished, and when the animal spirits are impaired and the flesh wasted one cannot live long; and non-nourishment and short life are the sources of weakness. The nature of opium is lazy and perverse: it destroys shame and sears the conscience. The lazy are averse to all action, and the perverse are alienated from their own rela-| tions, the shameless rob and steal unblushingly, the seared in conscience sell their wives and barter their children; such things as these are the root of poverty.

In course of time by this method China will not merely be impoverished and weakened to the atmost, it will be extinguished without a remnant. You will have science with none to cultivate it, your literature will perish, you will have goods with none to buy them, mines of pure gold with none to work them, the country a network of railwaysland none to travel in them, grain in abundance and none to eat it, firearms and

IS MARRINGE A FAILURE

The columns of the Daily Telegraph for several days have been deluged with a mass of letters on this subject, although the correspondents, for the most part, have nothing new or instructive to tell us. They simply reiterate the stock platitudes which have been so often advanced, but generally in a less awkward manner. The following extract from Punch is a happy satire on their style and matter :—

To the Editor. Sir,-I see that some of your Correspondents are asking. 'Is Marriage a failure ? How fortunate that the public should have become suddenly interested in this question just us the Dull Season has come round again? Porhaps, with judicious management, the subject could be made to last on to the Autumn Session! My view is that it is simply a matter of intelligent selection of the locality where the marriage is contracted or annulled. I, myself, have alroady been married in eight different States in America, and have found no difficulty in securing eight separate divorces on no ground whatever. As there are about thirty States, I look forward to continuing this process for some considerable time. and as I take care to 'go where money is, am now in the possession of a modest competency, entirely due to prudent matrimonial ventures. I advise those who are unhappy in wedlock to take courage-and a ticket to Colorado.

Yours' cutely, Sir,-How Marriage can be called failure I cannot understand. Take my own case. I recently indulged in some disastrous speculations, which landed me, before I know where I was, in the Bankruptcy Court. All that I had was taken to feed my avaricious creditors: but fortunately my wife had property settled upon her, which they could not touch, and I was living in comfort as a result of that arrangement. It is true that I am not able to keep more than four hunters, but I console myself by thinking that my creditors also are not completely happy with their composition of sixpence in the pound, which was all I felt justified in offering them. I often tell my wife I never knew her value till now. So far from Marriage being a failure, it has turned Failure into a triumphant

Yours chirpily. Undischarged. Sir.—I don't think I am particularly hard to get on with, yet after only six months of marriage I have been obliged to send my wife home to her relations, allowing her five hundred pounds a year simply in order to get rid of her! She says my temper is unbearable, but if one can' chack one's own wife out of a second storey window for venturing to argue with one. should like to know whom one is allowed to chack out? Then when I knocked her though glass door and (as she says) injured her head, which was always rather soft, I was acting simply on principle and from a high sense of duty, although the Police Magistate took a different view of the occurrence. Is it not intolerable that wives should venture to contradict any opinion expressed by their husbands? This is the sort of Marriage Not' which every husband is bound to cut. I must in fairness add that mine never openly disagreed with me but once, when the chucking-out took place; but after that she used to look as if she were going to disagree, which is even more aggravating to a man of sensitive disposi-

SOUTH WALES. We have received from Sydney a copy of plea by Mr Quong Tart (Kuang Tsi), the leading Chinese merchant in New South Wales, for the legislative prohibition of the importation of opium into the Colony. will be seen that the writer endeavours to cill two birds with one stone: for he insists very strongly that if the import of opinm were prohibited, only a superior class of Chinese would come to the Colony, who would make their homes there, and most of the existing objections to his nationals would be done away with, so that the clamour for their exclusion would cease. After relating an interview which he and other gentlemen had with Sir A. Stuart in

There would still be a slight revenue upon opium, so that the Government would not lose all revenue derived from it He said one Cay when he was speken to Then again, the Chinese who were in the Count this matter 'Very well, I will leave babit of smoking it would smoke tobacco to-morrow.' I asked him to stop until I instead, and that would give an additional could got another cook. He did stay for a revenue in another direction. But I am sure none of the worthy gentlemen comprising our present Parliament would say 'import opium for the sake of the revenue, because such broad-minded and highly-His Lordship said defendant's having principled men as we have amongst our kept the plaintiff on made a difficulty in | freetraders and protectionists would conthe case, as it rather condoned the plaintiff's sider the saving of souls long before the fault. If defendant had discharged the mere question of £. s. d. I feel positive man it would have been different, and that there is not one gentleman who would if Mr. Judd substantiated his case by like to see anyone belonging to him using evidence there could be no doubt this slow poison, but if it is not stopped, that the plaintiff could not recover his they are sure, some of them, sooner or wages, nor would be have been entitled to later to be trapped. Then why should his wages if he had voluntarily taken him- they not put themselves together as a self away. Had Mr Judd made him any body and stop it at once? Now is the time and the best time, while we have such a Mr Judd said he had declined to make noble Governor as Lord Carrington, in the any offer, but left the matter entirely in his jubilee year of our most gracious claim as a matter of principle, and as able event could New South Wales do or plaintiff was not his (Mr Judd's) own cer- have in this year than the 'Abolition of Opium Importation? (consisting of European women and Chinese) in the very act of smoking. The whole of N.-C. Daily News. the newspapers of that colony were in full favour of my exertions, as were also the leading Chinese merchants; and in Ballarat a meeting was hold and everyone present supported the movement to stop the trade, and promised to do all that could be done to help me when called upon. That in itself opeaks volumes. When opium was first imported into Ohina (by the East India Company) the authorities of that country did not see the evil, but as soon as they discovered it they tried to put a stop to it. Alas! it was too late, for they were prevented by international agreements, and all they could do was to shut their eyes and say no more. It is a most lamentable sight to view the misory existing in some of the habitations in China, caused simply by the use of opium. Homes that once were happiness itself, and supplied with every comfort, were denuded even of furniture of any description-all had been sold or disposed of yjother means simply to gratify a taste or this cursed drug. I know of one case where the father of a family who used to be pretty well-to-do took to opium-smokng. His means ran short and he sold all to could, leaving the family quite destitute to get money to buy opium. One of his sons became seriously ill and died. He and no means to bury him, and when he isked people for assistance he was refused, for no one in China will look upon or help in opium-smoker-no matter what his troubles may be. The mother, when things were in this terrible plight, gave to him some money (she had saved by her own hard industry, unknown to him) to go and get their son a costin. The father when he got the money, instead of putting it to the use intended, took it off to an opium-house and smoked it all away. The mother anxiously waited for his return, but no. A messenger was despatched, who soon returned with the news that her husband was housed in an opium-shop, and had never been near the undertaker. This is only not then try to stop it in this young coun-kong, during a conversation the other day.

vince to another, and he says it is totally impossible to thoroughly describe the miseries the families of Chinese opium-smokers undergo. He goes further, and says he would not agree to opium being brought in a liquid condition. Any Chinaman known to use opium is not admitted to the Church. I think I can safely say that in twelve months' time after the prohibition of the importation, all gentlemen who have spoken publicly against the Chinese would speak very differently. Words cannot express how dreadfully hurt the respectable Chinese feel when things are said publicly against them, for the gentlemen who denounce make no allowance but class all alike, although that is anything but fair, for no criminal case against the Chinese has ever come from any of the respectable business houses, large or small, but has in every case originated in places where opium is used. I had a conversation lately with some of the large Chinese importers, and they admit it is a cursed evil, and would be pleased to see t stopped from coming into the colonies. They said. 'But as long as it is allowed to be imported, why should we not benefit as well as any other man.' It is through this opium that the Chinese get indelent—in gether in very badly ventilated rooms, vails. where a number can, as they think, enjoy the poison together, and that horrible smell so many people complain of is caused. Then THE CHINESE AND OPIUM IN NEW again-and worse than all-these men lose all inclination for work of any kind, and so commence that wicked pernicious vice gambling, simply because they can do it with little exercise of strength. I don't say for one moment that the police have not done their duty as far as hunting some of these gambling dens out, but I do say there | 100. are a number of places that are still to be found. Why not save the police this 'blind man's buff' work by stopping the opium. Then the gambling would cease; and more than that, the Chinese, if they intend to remain in the colony, would completely reform with the assistance of the different Chinese clergymen (Church of England, Wesleyan, Presbyterizu, and Roman Catholie), and become more attached to the European customs. and in time form a splendid addition to the workers of this colony. Then some of the better class of people in China, when they find that the Chinese are being appreciated and held in a higher estimation by the people here, will cast in their lot among us. Whereas at present we have coming to the colony a very mixed class, for in numerous cases people are sent here by their relatives or parents because no good can be got out of them through their having taken to opium. I heard and saw while on a visit to China in the year 1881) of some cases where the parents went so far as to three to murder their sons upless they smoking oplum, but ever that did not frighten them-in face , took no effect : so rather than 800 th ...em go to ruin the parents some money and sent them about business. And where did they go Well, to the place where they knew they could get any amount of opium without any remonstrance from anyone. At the time of the general outcry against the Chinese, the Government had a thorough investigation made of the Chinese camps in Wagga, Narrandera, Deniliquin, Albury, and Hay, in order to find out the cause, and it was the outcome of these men using opium. Not only the Chinese in these five places visited were found to use this drug, but also seventy-five European women, and out of the seventy-five fifty were confirmed smokers. Now, readers. you can imagine for yourselves the results. when so many were found in five places If the Government had stopped the importation then, the cry would have ceased ere now, and as long as the use of opium is legalised, why cry out against the Chinese? Cry out rather against the Government for not stopping it, for the power is theirs and in their hands. During my last attempt to get this curse removed, numberless squatters and other gentlemen wished me every success, for they have had in their employ Chinamen who smoke and those who do not. Speaking from experience, they said 'Get the traffic stopped for all that is good, because it is a cursed evil. I would sooner employ a drunkard any day than an opium-smoker. 'Stop the importation;' and if anyone be except chemists, let a very heavy fine be inflicted or a long term of imprisonment. The smuggling would be very slight, and could be easily detected-if by no other means, the smell. The present large importers would have more honour than disgrace themselves by importing after the law

Hongkong, August 25, 1885. MOORE'S GOGO SHAMPOU WASH.

THIS WASH HAS PROVED ITSELF TO BE THE BEST PREPARATION EVER PRE-SENTED TO THE PUBLIC.

THE Bases of this compound is made of Gogo Root. The natives of the Philippine Islands never use anything else for washing their hair; you nover see them bald, and it is quite common to see the females with hair from 5 to 6 feet long. By using this SHAMPOO WASH as directed, you will never be bald. The Proprietor offers the Wash to the public, being entirely confident that by its restorative properties it will surely arrest decaying hair, completely eradicate scurf, dandruff, and cure all diseases of the scalp; it does not contain any poisonous druge, but, by its cooling properties allays the itching and fever of the scalp.

Mr. Mooke has succeeded in being able to put this Wash up in bottles without allowing it to ferment, and he will guarantee it to keep any length of time in any climate CAMPBELL, MOORE & Co., Lad., Under Hongkong Hotel.
